THINKS THE LETTER SETTLES

CLEVELAND'S CHANCES. HE IS A SUPPORT TO MONOPOLISTS

And as Such It Will Be Impossible for Him to Get the Support of the Working Classes of the Country.

Washington, February 19 .- [Special.]-Colonel L. L. Polk, president of the National Farmers' Alliance, on being asked his opinion of Mr. Cleveland's chances for the democratic nomination, and the effect which his anti-free coinage letter would have on his chances for that position, has expressed the opinion that he can only receive the nomination by the influence of the money power and corrupt manipulation. In reference to the position of the alliance toward Mr. Cleveland's candidacy, President Polk says that it will be impossible for him to get the support of the working classes. To secure the support of that class a man must be put forward whose views on the financial tion agree with theirs, and they will support no man whose views are contradictory to their policy. Mr. Cleveland, by his expression of opinion, has handicapped his rac second term very seriously. While Mr. Cleve-land may be perfectly sincere, his position on the silver question has been a strong support to monopolists in their efforts against the free coinage bill, and has placed him on their side of the financial question.

Opposed to Subsidy Steals.

The democrats of the house are determined that none of the big steals now pending before congress shall pass before adjournment. The dy bill is, perhaps, the boldest of them all, and it is against this that commenced the fight today. There is but one way to put on the braces, and that is to delay appr bills until the last moment, in order that no time may be left for the consideration of the steals. Today the democrats commenced a system of delay. They will talk at length on will talk at length on everything that comes up from now on, and will attempt to prevent the passage of any except the laws that are necessary for the continuation of the various branches of the government. The hig subsidy bill lobby is mad, and tonight its members are swearing all kinds of vengeance when the degree to the continuation of the c upon the democrats, who are leading the fight: but they can do nothing, for both Reed and Cannon, the republican chiefs, will secretly aid the democrats. Reed, up to today, has been counted as a subsidy man, but Cannon has succeeded in convincing him that the bill is a mammoth steal, and that it will bankrupt the treasury. Therefore, Reed has come to the conclusion that it is just as well to leave the matter to the next congress to handle. The subsidy men are, however, desperate, and even at the last moment, if an opportunity occurs, they will endeavor to push the bill through. The lobby has millions, and would not hesitate to resort to bribery or any other kind of corruption if by so doing they could pass the bill.

Ingalls Steps Out. Senator Ingalls made a short speech in the senate today, resigning the position of presi-dent pro tem. This is not, however, to be considered his farewell speech to the senate It is probable that some time next week he will get the floor on an appropriation bill, and deliver his valedictory address to the senate. Like all his speeches, it will be short but eloquent. Ingalls will be missed in the senate. In resigning the chair today Senator

Ingalls said:

Four years ago, on the 25th of the present month, I was chosen president of the senate pro tempore, and, by subsequent election, was continued in that station until the 2d of April last, when, under the resolution of March 12th, preceding, I was unanimously designated to preside during the future absence of the vice president, and at the pleasure of the senate—a function not previously exercised by any member of the body previously exercised by any member of the body during the century of its existence. The senate having been formally notified that my service here will end with the close of this my service here will end with the close of this congress, in order to avoid embarrassment and to afford an opportunity for deliberation. I now tender my resignation as president of the senate pro tempore, to take effect on the election of my successor in office. It would be an affection of indifference, unworthy of the senate, unworthy of myself, and labouid be alike wanting in sensibility and destitute of gratitude, were I to withhold the expression of my grateful appreciation of the confidence and consideration so long continued, with which I have been honored by the most dignified, the most important and the most influential legislative assembly in the world.

The Copyright Bill.

The copyright bill, as it passed the senate yesterday, is not in a shape to satisfy those most interested. Its advocates, however, expect the conference committee to correct the

The Sherman-Carlisle amendment they exect to be stricken out, and the lithographers' amendment changed in some particulars. In this shape they expect it to become a law. It is, however, said that Mr. Reed is op posed to the bill, and that he will aid its opponents in killing it by the smothering ess. It is certain that there are many members of the house who would resort to almost anything to kill the bill, and its final ssage and signature by the president are not yet a sure thing.

The Silver Bill.

The silver bill will be reported by the coinage committee tomorrow. The report will be an adverse one. However, on Monday the free coinage men will probably open the fight, although it is now so late in the session that they have but little hope. It is, however, possible that a silver bill of some kind will pass the house, but as the president will have an opportunity to do the pocket veto act, the ces of its becoming a law are very slim. Senator Coke, who has charge of the Athens and Columbus court bills in the senate, says he is perfectly confident that both bills will become laws before the present session expires. He will probably call them up for final passage in the senate on Monday. The senate will end the sundry civil appropriation bill with an appropriation for the construction, at once, Columbus public building. The full 00 will be appropriated. E. W. B. $100,000 will be appropriated.

Trying to Agree on Silver. Washing to Agree on Silver.
Washington, February 19.—There is an earnest effort-making on part of a number of members of the house to secure a compromise on the silver question, based primarily on larger purchases of silver. It is sought to have this compromise measure adopted by the majority of the comage committee at its meeting tomorrow as a substitute for the senate unlimited free coinage bills.

POLK ON CLEVELAND. Co., and Dallas & Alexander lost heavily by the removal of stock, and by water. Adjacent buildings were badly damaged. Wilson, Redfearn and Earnest Nuttail lost their entire stocks of merchandise. The Bruner building was insured for $2,200; Redfearn & Co. had $3,500 insurance on stock.

THE DEADLY PARALLEL.

The Lord Mayor of London and Dr. Spurgeon Use Identical Language. London, February 16.—The Pall Mall Gazette today publishes, in parallel columns, a sermon which Rev. Charles H. Spurgeon, pastor of the famed tabernacle, preaced in 1864, and an address delivered by Right Honorable Joseph Savory, lord mayor of London, last week at the Polytechnic institute 'voner men's Christian in. hord mayor of London, last week at the Polytechnic institute (young men's Christian institute for apprentices, articians, etc.), in Regent street. The two discourses are identical in almost every particular, long passages in the Spurgeon sermon being delivered unchanged in the lord mayor's address.

The lord mayor, whose attention was called by a reporter to this singular coincidence, said that he was unaware of the similarity existing between his recent oration and Mr. Spurgeon's pulpit utterances. He had never, to the best of his knowledge, seen the sermon referred to.

THE IRISH PARTY'S FINANCES. The Dispute [as to the Disposition of the Money.

London, February 19.—The Times, referring to the financial dispute going on in the Irish parila-mentary party, says that before leaving Boulogne Mr. Dillon suggested that the further sum or $15,000 should be released from Munroe's bank, $15,000 should be released from Munroe's Dank, this sum to be devoted to the relief of evicted tenants. Mr. Parnell, according to The Times, was willing that this should be done if $5,000 was handed to the league treasurer. Mr. McCarthy, however, insists that the whole amount must entrusted to the Tenants' Defense Association entrusted to the Tenants' Defense Association.

Negotiations on these points still continue.

The Fall Mail Gazette today hopes for some compromise arrangement in the shipping crisis, but considers that such a solution is doubtful.

The Gazette accuses the shipping federation of deception and of a covert determination to smash the union, and says that the men may be temporarily so repressed as to need public support, but that in the end they are bound to win.

DUBLIN, February 19.—The plan of campaign, so far as the Smith-Barry estates are concerned, so clapsing. Eleven tenants of Cashel, who were evicted for refusing to pay the rents demanded of them, have resumed their holdings, paying all arrears of rent due, as well as the cost of legal proceedings taken against them.

Transferred to Another Jail. DUBLIN, February 19.—William O'Brien and John Dillon, recently surrendered to the police at Folkestone, England, who were taken to Clonmel jail in order to undergo their terms of imprisonment, were transferred to Galway jail at daylight this morning. The prisoners were taken from Clonmel in a salcon carriage. Though servey was observed the wear the wearest was observed the wearend the wearest was observed the wearest was observed to the contract of the contr creey was observed throughout the proceedings the inhabitants of Tipperary got wind of the affair and assembled in crowds at the Tipperary railroad station, and enthusiastically cheered the two members of parliament as the latter's train stopped for a few moments in their midst. O'Brien and Dillon will complete their sentence in Galway iail.

THE BISHOP OF DROMORE'S LETTER.

The bishop of Dromore has sent a letter to the clergy of his diocese, in which he warns the faithclergy of his diocese, in which he warns the faithful not to attend Parnell's meeting in Newry. He hopes that the poisoned atmosphere of the divorce court and the filthy, disgusting and scandalous details of the O'Shea case have not reached his diocese. The proposed meeting, he says, will be a wanton insult to religion, to the bishop and to the priests and the laudation of a heaven-oursed crime. "Let God arise and his enemies will be confounded. Forbearance has encouraged this iniquity. Let brave men and true women who love godliness, and hate adultery use all lawful means to save the honor and good fame of their mothers, wives and sisters by resenting the daring aggression of those attempting to prosettine the country to aggrandize an individual and hide their own filthy conduct."

has changed, and when the truth of Cash's sad story became known, the tide turned in his favor. He has in his possession quite a number of letters, which were written only a short time ago to his wife, from E. T. Young. Two months ago Cash wrote Young from Kentucky that he was coming wrote Young from Kentucky that he was coming to Texas and square accounts with him; that he had debauched his wife, disgraced his children and ruined his home. This, it is said, frightened Young, and knowing that trouble was brewing, he left for Hot Springs without even telling his family where he was going. His wife, becoming discouraged at his sudden departure, took her two little children and left for Kentucky, where her relatives reside. Mrs. Young comes from one of the best families of Kentucky, and her relatives in this city are among the prominent people. relatives reside. Mrs. roung comes from one of the best families of Kentucky, and her relatives in this city are among the prominent people. Young himself was highly connected and well educated. He was a man of violent passions, however, and wrecked his own life at the time of the killing. He was unarmed, unprepared and not ready to meet his maker. No mercy was shown him, no pitying hand stayed the arm of the slayer, and tonight his remains will be shipped to his relatives in Kentucky for interment.

W. C. Cash, the homicide, is more cheerful tonight than usual. He has no regrets. While talking tonight to the writer he received a telegram from a prominent lawer of Kentucky, telling him to be prudent and not talk to any one but counsel, over which he wept bitterly. Cash is well connected, has many friends and is a man of means. He has employed the leading counsel of the city, and his examining trial will be held in Justice Brodwell's court Friday or Saturday.

THE BURIAL OF GENERAL DRAYTON Will Take Place in Charlotte Today.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., February 19.—[Special.] This city is in mourning out of respect to General Thomas F. Drayton, who died at Florence, S. C., yesterday morning. He was for a long while iden-tified with the business of this place, and as a citizen his life presents an unbroken record of high integrity and spotless personal honor. General Drayton was born in Charleston, S. C., in August, 1807. When very young he was sent to a private school in England, where he remained a private school in England, where he remained for soveral years. On his return to this country he was appointed a cadet from South Carolina to West Point, where he graduated. It was here that he met Jeiferson Davis, the two being graduates in the same class. A close intimacy and friendship were established between Mr. Davis and General Drayton, which continued up to the time of the death of the south's great chieftain.

After the war General Drayton bought applantation in Georgia and engaged in planting, but the new regime was not like the old, and his efforts as a farmer proving unsuccessful he gave up the business and came to Charlotte in '71, and embarked in the insurance and real estate business, which be continued in until disabled by the sickness which terminated his life. Extensive preparations have been made for his burial, which takes place in the city tomorrow afternoon.

THREE REPUBLICANS PREVENT HIS ELECTION

AND THE BALLOTING STILL GOES ON.

Streeter Announces that He Is a Repul lican and Favors an Election Law, But Fails to Receive Enough Votes. CHICAGO, February 19. - [Special.] - Palmer's chances for election are better than ever

It was thought that when the Farmers Mutual Beneficial Association men sub mitted a list to the republicans to choose from, and Streeter was determined upon as the candidate, that the whole republican vote could b concentrated upon him, but such is not the case, as today's balloting demonstrates There are three republicans who will vote for Palmer in preference to Streeter Whether Palmer is elected or not, one thing is certain, Streeter will not get the plum. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., February 19 .- The Farm SPRINGFIELD, Ill., February 19.—The Farmers' Mutual Beneficial Association men catechised A. J. Streeter, candidate for United States senator, this morning, in regard to his position in relation to the principals of that party. He declared that he would uphold the party in all matters which it favors, and said that, on outside questions, he would vote with the republicans. He favored free silver coinage and a federal election bill, though he though the Lodge bill too radical. "I signed the Sioux reservation ceding treaty, but when I saw how the mouths of my people were closed in Washington, I told Little Chief Noble that I would no longer be the leader of my people, but would mingle with them as a warrior in the ranks rather than lift my voice again in behalf of a white man."

Louis Prima, of Standing Rock agency, and one of the interpreters with the party, said:

"In view of this last visit and the excitement last fail, I know—and I am no alarmist—that in the spring there will be trouble. At Horticultural hall, in Philadelphia, where crowds were present to see the Indians, the only chief that receipts marked attention was Two Strike, who is hostile and has always been hostile. People crowded around him, shook his hand, showered cigarettes on him and made the old fellow weary with demands for a speech. The men who have stood by the government for years saw this and knew that they were ignored because they were friendless. The effect is bad, and not only bad, but lasting. They speak of it today among themselves, and wonder why the whites show no appreciation of men who have practically ostracised themselves from their kindred for the good of their own race. I honestly believe that the attention shown to actual hostiles in the east and the ignoring of friendlies will work as much harm, as little attention was shown to both bodies by officials at Washington. Neither the friendlies nor the hostiles are satisfied by this treatment."

SHE MAKES HER ESCAPE. The Daring Ride of Mrs. McCabe Out of

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., February 18 .- Mrs. Mc Cabe, murderessof Judge Max Stein, whose escape from Matamoros (Mexico) jail and capture at Alice, Tex., has already been reported, was brought to this city last night and placed in jail. Owing to her appeal to American ladies some months ago, which was given wide publicity, it is nnnecessary to repeat how and why she killed Stein. To your correspondent this me gave a graphic account of how she escaped from the jail on Saturday night, February 4th. She had already been tried, but sentence had been withheld for reasons unknown to her. She was not confined on the same floor with other prisoners, but occupied a room on the second floor, which privilege was accorded her at an extra cost of $20 a month, for a special guard furnished by the Mexican government. About 1 o'clock on the above night she executed plans for escape. The guard, thinking she was asleep, left his station for some purpose, when she quickly withdrew from her trunk a long rope with knots tied in it about twelve inches apart. This she tied to a balustrade. The distance to the ground was but sixteen feet, but, owing to weakness, caused by her long confinement, there was not enough strength in her arms to support the weight of her withheld for reasons unknown to her. She was not sixteen feet, but, owing to wearings, cannot her long confinement, there was not enough strength in her arms to support the weight of her body, consequently she fell heavily to the ground, breaking two bones of her right foot, while another bone was driven through the bottom of her In this painful state the brave woman and flying

She was taken to Brownsville, opposite Matamores, and there kept until last Sunday night, when she was put on a fast horse and rode to Alice, a distance of 130 miles, in three days, accompanied, by Dr. Headly. It is feared her feet will have to be amputated. Mrs. McCabe is nineteen years of age, of large stature, very graceful and what might be termed a pretty woman. She wears a luxurious growth of black hair four feet in length, and was born in Banderia county, Texas, Banderia county, Texas, San Antonio, where her parents now reside. Her case will be argued here February 21st, pending which time the extradition treaty will be dissected to ascertain if Mexico can claim her back. Her attorneys say not. She is now held upon telegraphic instructions from the Mexican government. The Washington authorities will, of course, have to take a hand. Mrs. McCabe weeps frequently and says she will kill herself before she will return to Mexico. She insists that she killed Stein in defense of her virtue, and would have proved it had she been accorded an impartial trial. Her description of Mexican prison life is horrible. THE SERVICES OVER THE REMAINS IN NEW YORK

AND THEIR SHIPMENT TO ST. LOUIS.

Arrival of Father Thomas Sherman From Europe-He Conducts the Funeral Services.

New York, February 19.—Rev. Father Thomas Ewing Sherman was seen by a re-porter this morning in his father's office below the room in which stood the dead general's bier. The priest is a fine-looking young man, affable and pleasant in manner. In answer to a question as to the circumstances of his receipt of the news of his father's fatal illness, which brought him hurriedly to this country, he said that the intelligence reached him a week ago yesterday. It was brought to him in a Jesuit college on the Isle of Jersey, where he is completing his studies. The news came to him too late to catch any of Wednesday's ocean steamers for this city at Liverpool, so he made hasty preparations to catch the Majestic, the fastest vessel that left Liverpool on Wednesday, and was to stop at Queenstown the following day. He hurried first to Southampton, where he took a special train for Holyhead, and crossing to Ireland, reached Queenstown in time to board the Majestic. Intelligence of his father's death him when the Majestic reached Sandy Hook, from the lips of a deck hand on a mail boat that came to one side of the ocean steamer, while the revenue cutter [Chandler came alongside on the other. His inquiry, 'How is General Sherman?" was answere by the deck hand, who said: "His funeral is to be held tomorrow." Of course the man did not know who his questioner was.

John Byrne and Rev. Father Henry Van eler, two friends of Father Sherman, boarded the Majestic from the revenue cutter, and from them he learned the particulars o his father's last illness and death.

THE GENERAL'S RELIGIOUS BELIEF. Touching the subject of General Sherman's religious belief, his son said in positive terms that may well remove all doubt on the matter:
"My father was baptized in the Catholic church, married in the Catholic church and attended the Catholic church till the outbreak of the civil war. Since that time my father has not been a communicant, but he always said to me, if there is any true religion, it is the Catholic religion."

Continuing, Father Sherman said: "A week ago today my father received absolution and extreme unction at the hands of Father Taylor. My father was unconscious at the time, but this fact has no importance bearing, for the sacrament could be administered to any person whose mind could be interpreted as de-sirous of receiving them. I will hold services over my father's remains at 12 o'clock today in the presence of the immediate family. They will embrace the reading of the regular funeral services prescribed by the ritual of the Roman Catholic church."

VIEWING THE REMAINS. There were few visitors at the house in the early hours of the morning. Only intimate friends and a few old soldiers were admitted, and the latter were obliged to show certificates that they had served in the army. Rev. Thomas Sherman, the deceased's son, whose arrival has been so anxiously awaited, arrived at the house at 1:30 o'clock this morning. He was welcomed home, not by his beloved father, but by his brother, P. T. Sherman, and his sisters, Mary, Thackera and Miss Rachael Sherman. He did not then go to view his father's remains, but after a short but sad talk with his brother and sisters, retired for the night to pass the hours till morning in restless sleep. He said his volvage across the Atlantic had been very uneventful. He did not disclose his identity to any person on board, but kept his sorrow to himself. arrival has been so anxiously awaited, board, but kept his sorrow to himself

THE SERVICES AT THE HOUSE. Father Sherman conducted the services at the house, assisted by Father Taylor and two other priests. Father Sherman read from the scripturef the passage beginning: "I Am the Resurrection and the Life." After this elections were sung from the oratio of Elijah. by Mendelssohn. Father Sherman again read he scriptures and the "Misereri" from Mendelssohn was given. About 150 persons were present at these ceremonies. The greater number were relatives, but there were many close friends as well, among them being Mrs. Grant and Senator Cameron, and Secretary Blaine and wife and Cameron, and Secretary Blaine and wife and daughter.

The reading of the service and singing together did not occupy more than fifteen minutes. There were large crowds of people all along the street and on hogse stoops, but they maintained the utmost order, and by their silent, composed demeanor, manifested their respect for the dead general.

THE MARCH TO THE DEPOT. Promptly at 2 o'clock the body was borne from the house on the shoulders of six licu-tenants in the army, and placed upon the caisson, but it was fifty minutes later before the procession moved down Eighth avenue to Fifty-seventh street, thence by Fifth avenu to Washington square. There the parade, except the guard of honor and an escort of mounted police, was dismissed. LaFayette post, having in its center the caisson and black chargers, swung into Broadway and marched to Canal street and thence to Desbrosses street ferry. Carriages in which were the family followed closely, and all boarded a ferry boat which was in waiting and which took the remains across to Jersey City. They were placed in a special car, and the family and those who are permitted to go to St. Louis will occupy another car. The train left Jersey City at 6:30 o'clock.

Sherman's Character Discussed. AUBURN, Ala., February 19.—[Special.]—Colonel M. V. Moore, in talking to THE Con-STITUTION correspondent, today, about General Sherman, said:

"In reading in THE CONSTITUTION of today the editorial relating to General Sherman's character, I am reminded of an incident in his history which I have never seen recorded in print, and which goes to show the utter heartlessness of the man, and his mean and vindictive nature at a time when he was in the very flush of his military career. DESPOILING HIS HOST.

At Flat Rock Sherman made headquarters at the house of Captain James Ingraham, one of the most noted and wealthy planters in the northern part of the state of South Carolina. The general proceeded at once to lay violent hands upon allithe perishable property he could reach. He robbed Ingraham of about seventy-five mules and horse; he took avers he could reach. He robbed Ingraham of about seventy-five mules and horses; he took every hoof of cattle, hogs, sheep and goats on the immense plantation, every pound of meat and breadstuffs upon the place was at once seized and devoured by the army. Even the chickens, ducks and geese from the poultry yards were plucked to the very last head. All the sweet potatoes and other vegetablet were also swept away by the "ungloved" hand, for it must be remembered that General Sherman said he "took off his gloves" when he entered the wicked state of South Carolina. The general's friends may put in a plea of

The general's friends may put in a plea of justification in all the above recited facts—a plea which I shall not gainsay or controvert at present; for the offense of which I desire to write now embraces a different feature of war—a matter that has no palliation in Christian character.

BARBARISM SURPASSED.

"Here is what reveals the fierce barbarianheart untouched by any sense of chivalry. It may be bravery; it may be policy; it may be loyalty to flag; but that is all. And all that General Sherman's friends ought in decency to claim for him is that he was a brave and brilliantsoldier, devoted to his party and his section—not to his country nor its whole his section—not to his country nor its whole people; a strong, yet erfatic, unbalanced mind not controlled at all times by the sense of consistency or truth, for even his friends have had to apologize time and again for his reckless statements. He knew that he was the idol of a few in the north, and he did not care a whiff—'a damn,' as he expressed it—for the rest of the world, since he had an impregnable position in certain quarters. Hence his ungowerned spirit. But to the other facts.

"When Sherman began his departure from Captain Ingraham's house, orders were issued that every building and other improvements."

"When Sherman began his departure from Captain Ingraham's house, orders were issued that every building and other improvement upon the entire plantation should be at once reduced to ashes, the dwelling house alone to be spared, and so the torch was applied to the immense barns and stables, the corn houses, the meat houses, and all other outbuildings, including a large cotton ginnery which contained thousands of dollars worth of raw cotton, the other buildings having been previously gutted. In addition to their destruction more than twenty miles of rail fencing were consumed in the flames. Over the plantation which but the day before had been dotted with a score of buildings and magnificent improvements otherwise, the eye now beheld a scene of ruin and desolation unparalleled in the history of civilization.

"Nor was this all that was practiced there by that self-styled master in the ecience of barbarism. The princely, old-time gentleman, Captain Ingraham, then above seventy-five years cid, was placed in iroms and hurried away is the county jail where he was thrown into a coid dungeon—under the charge of having recently whipped one offits negroes! The poor man was subsequently released, but the shock and the exposure in jail had made such a wreek of his frail system that he died soon afterward.

"Nor When Mrs. Ingraham saw the torch being a wreck of his fail system that he died soon afterward.

"When Mrs. Ingraham saw the torch being applied to all the possessions around, knowing toe the destruction or robbery of everything the family had possessed in the way of subsistence, she went to Sherman, begging him to spare her home, and also something upon which she could support life until her friends could come to her relief, now that her husband was being taken away. The good lady, who had shown all kindness and favors possible to Sherman and his officers during their stay at her house, was told that for her sake the house had been spared, and that the general had made provision for her support until friends could reach her. She thanked the general, and asked where were the supplies he had directed to be given her. She was conducted into one of the rooms of the house, and shown a small pile of clay peas dumped on the floor.

"Mrs. Ingraham had not been accustomed to such a diet, and returning to General Sherman, who was now about to diener. She was

"It was but a short while after Sherman left that I arrived at the scene of ruin and destruction. I personally saw the situation as I have described it. Mr. Ingraham was taking myself and others with me into the rooms showing the destruction of the furniture.

"I have endeavored to state all the facts without undue color or comment. What I did not hear from Sherman, I heard from Mrs. Ingraham's own lips. But there were things which transpired in her house while the federals were there which she could not relate.

Macon, Ga., February 19.—[Special.]—This morning about 2 o'clock a porter at the Hotel Lanier detected the smell of escaping gas in a room occupied by a guest. The door was locked. The porter looked through the transom and saw a man lying on the bed and breathing very heavily. The porter knocked repeatedly against the door with a stick, but could not awaken the sleeper. The porter then went through the transom into the room, unlocked the door, lit the gas, and finally after hard labor succeeded in arousing the man. As soon as he recovered his senses he asked: "What is that gas doing burning, and who lit it, for I am positive I blew it out last night when I went to bed." Thus was the story of the cause of the escaping gas told. Narrow Escape.

THE MELON GROWERS. NOTES BY THE WAYSIDE

AT LARGE.

A Tremendous Crop Looked, for-The ease in Acreage and the Caus It-Opinions of Leading Men. and the Cause of

ALBANY, Ga., February 19 .- [Special.]-

ECHOES FROM THE CONVENTION IN ALBANY.

The convention of the melon growers of south Georgia, held in Albany on Wednesday, was an interesting and important one. It is evident that they expect a tremendous crop this year, the acreage being double that of last season. This large crop they fear will bring a correspondingly low price. The question of freight rates is the all important subject. If they are sufficient ly lowethe yield may be well distributed and thus bring remunerative prices. With an increased cost for transportation the area to which they can ship will be restricted and the growers will, they think, find themselves out of pocket. Much therefore depends on the action of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association. If they increase the rate the acreage will be considerably lessened, if they reduce it, the crop of this year will be an eno.

Wishing to find out the views of the leading growers upon these subjects THE CONSTITU rion interviewed a number of them with the following result:

Said Mr. A. W. Butler, of Camilla: "If rates are to be increased. I am in favor of cutting down the crop and planting in something

Mr. J. R. Forrester, of Dougherty, remarked: "I fear that the freight rates be advanced. With the crop doubled, prices lower and rates increased it will leave n for the growers. I do not think the railroad have made as much out of the melon shipments many growers suppose owing expense of handling them the

the expense of handling them but I think if a proper petition is submitted to the meeting at Tampa, we can induce the association to lower the rate. I will only plant one-third as many acres in melons as I did formerly, putting in but 100 acres to 300 planted in former years. I will not commence planting for two weeks yet. I lost my crop twice last year by winter planting, and then after all I sent melons to market as early as any one."

ing, and then after all I sent melous to market as early as any one."

Mr. Long, of Lee, believed that planting by the 15th of March was early enough.

President McCree, of Brooks county, remarked: "The freight rates are of vital importance. I plant but fifty acres, and feel safe, as I can use the melons in my family if I cannot sell them. Said Mr. J. L. Hood, of Mitchell county: "I intend ito plant exactly the same number of acres as I did last year. I believe though that the acreage will be greatly the same number of acres as I did last year. I believe though that the acreage will be greatly increased. I am receiving letters from all over this section asking my advice as to the kind of seed to plant, fertilizers and other similar information. My correspondents write that they intend to try melons this year, planting all the way from thirty-five to 115 acres. Lower freights are necessary. It is a suicidal policy of the railroads to increase the rates. With low rates growers could ship 2000 miles, finding more distant. With low rates growers could ship 2,000 miles, finding more distant markets, with high rates their shipments are limited to 1,500 miles. I think with cheap freights the entire crop could be profitably

Said Mr. J. S. Davis: "There will be mill-Said Mr. J. S. Davis: "There will be millions of melons. I estimate that the acreage this year in Georgia and Alabama will be 44,400. With an average of a car to three acres this will make 14,800 carloads. This will insure the people of the United States with a sufficient quantity of this delicious southern fruit. Will they pay? Yes, they will pay something if properly and uniformly distributed. They will not be more than the people of this country can consume. With people of this country can consume. With lower freight rates a much larger territory can be covered by shipments.

The Atlantians Who Went to Canton to In spect Iron Fields Return.

Dr. H. L. Wilson, C. W. Hunnicutt, W. J. Van Dyke, J. H. Porter, J. D. Collins and P. H. Harraison, the gentlemen who went to inspect the re cently discovered iron deposits near Canton, Ga., They are all enthusiastic over the result of their visit, and say that the deposit is undoubtedly on of the richest in this section of the country. At Canton the party of Atlanta gentlemen were met by Mr. Moore, of Nashville, an expert in nining and minerals, and one of the large stock holders in the Chattahoocnee Land Company, which owns the mining property.

In company with Colonel Moore, the property, which is about two miles from Canton, was visited. which is about two miles from Canton, was visited.

A stratified vein of magnetic iron ore was shown running through the property, 3,000 acres, The vein is from fifty to 100 feet in width, and by actual measurement extends over eight miles, preserving the same qualities and stratification. The vein runs through fine original forest, with streams to furnish all the water needed for the making of charcoal.

The deposit was a revelation to the Atlanta gentlemen, and they say it can never be exhausted in this generation.

WHAT WILL BLAINE DO?

IS THERE TO BE ANOTHER DOUBLE

INDICATIONS OF A FLOP ON HIS PART To Free Coinage—The International Mon-etary Commission Looks that Way Stealing Democratic Thunder.

NEW YORK, February 19 .- [Special.]-When McKinley had the republican party headed straight for destruction, Mr. Blaine, by one powerful stroke, reversed the machine and threw it on the democratic track, by means of the magic switch he calls re-

There are indications now that he is about to execute another double shuffle on the silver question that will lift his party clean out of the quagmire in which it is floundering and land it squarely on the democratic platform.

There is now sitting in Washington, the international monetary conference, which is the result of a movement started by the democratic congress in 1888, but is made to appear as the special protege of Mr. Blaine.

There are signs that the administration has made up its mind to accept the inevitable and do something to satisfy an overwhelming demand for the free coinage of silver. They have seen the handwriting on the wall, and there is no doubt that they will try to profit by it; but how a plete backward somersault is to be exe cuted by a whole party in the presence of a Without some such fertile brain as that of Mr. Blaine, it would be impossible, but with his sleight-of-hand, hardly any situation is hope-

In this emergency, when the republican party has been fighting free coinage like grim death, it might be made to appear that they were only waiting a favorable opportunity to launch a scheme of their own.

Mr. Blaine might then come up at the last moment and present an American monetory union as the opportunity. In other words, he might coolly and with characteristic assurance, appropriate demo-cratic machinery provided two years ago and use it to carry out a republican scheme hatched in the eleventh hour of dispair.

A glance over the report of the proceedings of the Pan-American congress will show that an excellent foundation has already been laid for this kind of manauvre. One of the pressed in the sixth section of the act approved by President Cleveland, May 4, 1888, namely: "The adoption of a common silver coin, to be issued by each government, the same to be a legal tender in all commercial transactions between the citizens of all the American states.'

When you consider that this takes in eighteen nations with a population of 120,000,-000, whose coinage, at our present rate, would require every year $120,000,000 of the $142,000,000 produced in the world, thus creating by one stroke a demand for six-sevenths of the world's product, it becomes plain as the noonday sun that silver cannot be a drug in the market. This leaves only $22,000,000 a year for the 150,000,-000 people of the Latin Union, and the 400,-000,000 or 500,000,000 of Egypt, India and China. Even the republicans approve the present law, by which we coin 4,500,000 ounces of silver a month into something over $5,000,000, or $60,000,000 a year. If that is safe for 62,000,000 people, it will undoubtedly be so to coin an equal amount for an equal number of people in Spanish America, where the exchanges are less elaborate and currency is not so efficient as in the United States. It is significant that of a standing committee seven of the most eminent members of the Pan-A.merican congress, only one, Mr. T. Jefferson Coolidge, dissented from the report which recommended the coinage of an inter national American silver dollar, to pass as a legal tender in all the American states. When this report was submitted to the congress in a form slightly modified, but construed in open discussion to mean silver mainly, though not excluding gold, it was adopted by a vote of 15 to 1, voting by states. The one dissenting state was Guatemala, and Mr. Cruz, the Guatemalan delegate, frankly that the Guatemala farmers sold their exports for gold and paid their laborers in silver, thus practically admitting in open meeting that his country desired to give landlords a further opportunity to discount the wages of labor by paying in a depreciated currency while its products were sold for the favored metal at a premium. It was the old story of the gold bugs, but told with a naive simplicity, not to be expected from such a

It is a pity that the proceedings of the congress have been up to this time buried in government books. There was an air of dullness bout them which the newspaper men scented from afar, and, except on rare occasions, the discussions were not reported in the public prints. This is a pity, for there is a world of good democratic literature in the reports and discussions of the coinage question. Mr. Estee's report on this subject is the most cument I have seen in the whole range of silver discussion during the past twelve months. He shows the barren stultifications of those people who seek to make America a bear in the silver market, when she produces nine-tenths of the silver of the world.

A few paragraphs of his report are well orth quoting. He says:
"We do know that it would be to the interest of the American republics to increase the value of silver, and we can do that only by in-

"This is an important fact in view of the circumstance that a large part of all the pre-cious metals are produced in America. For instance, the amount of the world's production of silver during the year 1888, as we learn from the report of the director of the mint of the United States, was $142,437,150; of which amount the United States produced $59,195,-000; Mexico, $41,373,000; the Argentine Republic. $425,000; Colombia, $1,200,000; Bolivia, $11,000,000; Chili, $8,537,350; Peru, $3,-128,000; Central American states, $350,000, making a total of $125,208,350 of silver produced in the United States, Central and South America, leaving only the sum of $17,228,800 produced elsewhere in the world. Of this amount only a small portion was produced in Europe; the balance coming from Africa, Asiatic, Turkey and Australasia. "During the year 1888 the world's product of gold was $105,994,150. Of this sum the United States produced $33,175,000, about one-third; Australasia $27,327,000, about one-fourth; Russia $21,302,000; Africa $4,500,000; Chili $1,591,400; Colombia $1,500,000, leaving a small balance produced in various other coun-

"It will thus be seen that America and Australasia are the great producers of gold, and that America alone furnishes fully nine-tenth of all the silver. "The American nations are thus called upon by every impulse of self-interest to do what can be safely and wisely done to sustain the value of one of its chief products. The western continent is the undoubted treasure-field of the world. The inquiry forces itself upon ns, Shall distant nations, which must have what America produces, be permitted to fix the price of our productions, and yet we make no effort to maintain their value at home? Shall we reverse all past.

experiences by saying gold shall be a money metal and silver shall not, and thus increase the price of money by making it scarce, and decrease the price of products, when we are the largest producers in the world and have more products for sale than any other people?

"The time has long passed for America to look backward. We cannot now take European precedents as our guide in American affairs. Our situations and necessities are different. Indeed, no one nation can be the arbiter of the world's finances, or by itself arbiter of the world's finances, or by itself nake a money the world will receive. In modern times England may have come nearest it, and yet its policy is no broader than the little island where the true Briton lives. England is in favor of keeping down the price of silver because it is to her interest to do so. England makes money by buying silver at a discount and selling it to her own people at par, and America loses by permiting this to be done."

In the discussion which followed the subsion of these reports, the fact was brought out that there is an immense balance of trade against the United States in favor of the South American republics. This at present is settled in European exchange paid for with gold. Thus to that extent gold is taken from the United States to Europe, chiefly to London, to settle balances due there on the South American account. Now, with a common coin current in all of the American republics, we could at our option, use silver or gold to settle the balance we owe to South America; and send it to them direct. Better than this, with a common coin, good in all the American states, we would speedily reduce the balance of trade against us, for they would much rather buy goods in the United States and pay in their own coin, struck off from the product of their own mines, than to buy goods in Europe and pay for them in expensiv exchange. Add to this the greater distance, especially on the west side, and the 25 or more per cent difference in duty in favor of the United States, and you have for the United States almost a mortgage on the future trade of Spanish America, when once you have established a common coin current in all the American republics. Without this, Mr. Blaine's reciprocity scheme must halt half way. With it, it will be a great success, and there will be no need to vote subsidies to ships in order to set them running between the United States and South or Central America.

In fact, the movement has already begun. Mr. Brice has announced that he is about to put on lines of steamers from Brunswick and Mobile to connect the East Tennessee system with South and Central America. The tide has begun to roll and the plumed knight may be expected to come riding in on the first

Thus it is that the republican party is put in a position where it can do nothing but jump on the democratic platform and we nee not be surprised, if within a year, we see Mr. Blaine trying to crowd us off it. He has already laid to his soul by one treaty, a flattering unction of free trade and tariff reform. Now we need not be surprised to see him attempt to steal the free coinage idea, dress it up in new clothes, and introduce it with a flourish as a new plank in the republican plat-

Meantime the public will take notice that the Pan-American congress and the monetary union are both democratic ideas.

THE FEW SURVIVORS OF A GAL-

Whose Gallantry Could Not Be Discounted

-The Trophy to the Bravest Man

Must Go to the Longest Lived.

BRUNSWICK, Ga., February 19 .- [Special.]-There is a tailor in Brunswick who may fall heir to an historic trophy. His name is J. T. S. Price, a native of South Carolina, who served in both the Mexican war and the wa between the states, as a member of the old Palmetto regiment of his native state. He is one of twenty survivors of that regiment, and he thinks he is running a winning race for the

Just after the war of 1812 the ladies of South Carolina presented General Jackson with a beautiful and costly cup, indicative of their appreciation of the bravery and gallantry displayed by him at the battle of New Or-

When General Jackson died his will ordered the cup to be given to the bravest soldier from South Carolina in the next war which should occur. The cup was carefully put away in the state archives at Columbia to await the outcome of the next war.

The next war was the Mexican war. South Carolina sent out the Palmetto regiment, 1,100 strong. It fought in many battles, and only 300 of the 1,100 came back. Then the question as to who should have Jackson's cup arose. The legislature appointed a commission to decide the matter. The commission could reach no conclusion. Every member of the regiment had fought well. Not one had run away or shown the slightest cowardice, and it was found impossible to award the trophy. Thereupon the legislature decided that the cup should go to the last survivor of the 300.

Of that noble 300 it is thought there are but twenty left, and Captain Price, who is of a vigorous constitution, is in great hopes of outvigorous constitution, is in great hopes of out-living the rest of his comrades and securing the prize. He will endeavor to find the other survivors, in order to ascertain just how many of them are left.

A New Church for Washington WASHINGTON, Ga., February 19.—[Special.]—The financial ability and spirit of the people are shown by the proposed new Methodist church. Less than en years ago they sold their old church and bui ten years ago they sold their old church and built a new one of brick. For a number of reasons it was not built to suit them. So, after becoming more and more dissatisfied, they subscribed $15,000 with no delay. They intended to have conference held in that church, but they were delayed in order to be perfectly suited about a lot. They have bought a splendid location within a few days, opposite to the Mary Willis library, and will build at once.

The Free School Project in Danger. MARIETTA, Ga., February 19.—[Special.]—The friends of the Marietta free school bill have good eason to fear its defeat at the approaching tion. The act which was passed by the last legislature is meeting with considerable opposition, and it is now apparent that the requisite two-thirds majority will be lacking, unless the supporters of the bill can change the tide of public opinion in its favor.

Street Work a Necessity.

WASHINGTON, Ga., February 19. - [Special.] - The and has been so bad that nothing could be talked of but street and road improvement. Washington is waking up about streets just as the other towns, and will unquestionably reform her ways. Some of the best vitrified brick in the state is made here, and the maker proposes to pave a sample portion of the street.

SAVANNAH, Ga., February 18.—A number of our people have been under treatment with Dr. Flagg, of Atlanta, Ga., and his name and "Square Remeof Atlanta, Ga., and his name and "Square Reme-dies" are becoming familiar to all. He has effected some wonderful cures of catarrh, hay fever and leucorrhees in this city. He is permanently located in room 42, old capitol building, Atlanta, Ga., P. O. box 104.

For a Spiritual Song.

A Christmas Story.—A poor country congregation found itself badly in want of hymn books. The clergyman applied to a London firm, and asked to be supplied at the lowest (church) rates. The firm replied that on condition the hymn books contained certain advertisements the congregation should have them for nothing. Necessity knows no law, and the minister sorrowfully complied, thinking to himself that when the advertisements came they could be removed from the leaves. The hymn books arrived, and—joy of joys—they contained no interleaved advertisements. At the thanksgiving service the good parson joyously gave out the Christmas hymn, and the congregation sang the first verse with fervor. When they reached the last line they found that this was what they had been singing:

"Hark! the herald angels sing.

Beecham's Pills are just the thing;
Peace on earth and mercy mild,
Two for man and one for child."

THE SUNDAY CONSTITUTION SENT TO ANY ADDRESS.

ATLANTA, GA., FEBRUARY 20, 1891.

Georgia and the World's Fair; At the world's fair in Chicago Georgia will have a magnificent opportunity of exhibiting her matchless resources and products, under circumstances that may not be equaled for a generation to come.

It is not too early to give this matter our attention. At the New Orleans exposition we made an exhibit that amounted to nothing. For some time past capitalists and enterprising men all over the world have had their eves on Georgia. Excursion parties from England, and the northern and western states visit us from time to time, and our mines, cotton fields, timber lands, factories and other rising industries are being studied and reviewed in a way that promises much for the rapid development of the commonwealth.

Every state in the union will make the best possible showing at the world's fair. When the necessary funds cannot be raised by a state they will be contributed by public-spirited individuals. In every direction the states and the people are getting ready for this unparalleled dress parade of their advantages. In the meantime what is Georgia doing?

It is plain that under our constitution the state can do nothing through its legislature. If anything is done it will have to be done by our cities, towns, countries, corporations and societies. It is time to thoroughly understand the situation, and formulate a plan of action.

Naturally, Atlanta should take the lead. As the capital city, and the commercial and industrial metropolis of this region she has many responsibilities and duties resting upon her, and the fact that she has never shirked them in the past causes Georgians everywhere to look to her to take the first step whenever an advance movement is under consideration.

With, say $50,000 raised here in Atlanta as a starter-a nucleus-it would be an easy matter to stir up the local pride of every city, town, county, railroad and commercial and industrial interest in the state. A beginning is all that is needed, and Atlanta is the place for it.

The money spent on making a creditable exhibit for Georgia at the world's fair will be one of the best investments that we have ever made. It will come back to us a thousand fold almost immediately. The world's capital and enterprise will soon make a rush in this direction. Texas, Alabama and Tennessee will spare Georgia cannot afford to stand aside.

It has never been Atlanta's policy to wait for others to head a great movement, and there are imperative reasons just now why she should be up and doing. Suppose our sister cities fail to raise a fund for an exhibit? In that event there is all the more reason why Georgia should be represented at the great fair through Atlanta and by Atlanta alone. Atlanta's exhibit would then attract every eye-the products of our factories, our cotton goods, pianos, sewing machines, nails, shoes, clothing, wagons, and hundreds of articles made of home metal and timber would advertise the fact that our city is making rapid strides as a manufacturing center.

Whether Georgia and the other south ern states do much or little in this enterprise is not the question-the point is to bring Atlanta to the front, and show her to the nations of the earth as one of the coming queens of commerce and industry. With united effort and public spirit we can do it. Let us start a movement that will be of Atlanta, for Atlanta, and by Atlanta!

Wall Street's Chief Argument.

As an example of the methods to which the gold-bug editors are resorting in their futile efforts to deceive the voters of the east as to the results of the free coinage of silver, we take pleasure in reproducing the following paragraph from the editorial columns of The New York Tribune:

The existing law takes the silver of American mines, all of it, and probably a little more, for monetary use. But it does not take the silver of Mexico or Peru, the vast and weary load of silver carried by France or Germany, or the accumu-lated mass of silver in China or India. Limitatity makes it certain that if much foreign silver gets in here some American silve must go abroad in its stead. No other process has been or can be devised for excluding with cer tainty the enormous mass of silver outside, and tainty the enormous mass of silver outside, and if that comes in it destroys the value of all our ourrency, banishes gold from use, and renders disaster inevitable.

We desire to call the attention of our readers to the gross stupidity of the argument which The Tribune here attempts to put forth. The editor of The Tribune aking it for granted that its readers are and we have no doubt that many of them are endeavors to create the impresion that the "enormous mass of silver outde" is bullion silver, and that the rest of he world is only waiting the remone of silver in this country to dump the whole mass into this country. When it is borne in mind that this sort of argument "goes" in the east, and is regence of our financiers. The silver pro-duction of Europe is about half the amount enmed in the fine arts. The that is there con ous mass of outside silver," referred to by The Tribune, is full legal tender silver, and is either in active circulation, or is held in the reserve funds of the great banks.

The coin valuation of silver in Europe is 133 cents an ounce, as against our valuation of 129 cents an ounce. So that The Tribune, published in the very hotbed of North American finance, has the effrontery to pretend that it believes that Europe is only waiting an opportunity to turn its $1,100,000,000 of full legal tender silver into ullion and dump it into this country at a total loss of more than $33,000,000.

Truly. Wall street and its subservient ed itors must imagine that the American people are fools.

Mr. Blount on Subsidies.

Mr. Blount's speech against the shipping oill the other day was on the right line. The Georgia congressman pitched into the general policy of subsidies, and men-tioned the Pacific Mail steamship subsidy as a job that was of no benefit to commerce, but had simply drawn congress into a scandal. He boldly declared that it was idle to attempt to build up a merchant marine through subsidies so long as the present high tariff duties prevailed. The friends of the shipping bill will find t difficult, if not impossible, to answer Mr. Blount. His strong speech was a timely one, and his constituents will not forget the work of their brainy representative.

Is Our Climate Changing? Such unseasonable weather as we had yesterday will cause people to ask if our limate is changing. A little later, when a cold spell comes along, they will repeat the question.

According to some scientists, the globe is gradually revolving a little out of its regular course, and this is bringing about changes of climate. It will not do, however, to jump to the conclusion that there is to be any tremendous and sudden change in the established order of things. The probability is that, for centuries to come, our climate will remain about the same. Exceptionally mild winters and cool summers will come and go. but the general average will not be ma-

A Silver Expansion in England.

If Mr. Goschen, the chancellor of exchequer, is permitted to carry out his proposed policy, the currency of England will undergo an expansion in which silver will be an important factor.

Mr. Goschen advocates a government issue of one-pound notes, and intimates that it would be a good thing to issue twentyshilling notes secured by silver. This proposition is a brand new one in Britisl finances. It is argued that these small notes are for the convenience of the retail trade, but it will also have the effect of expanding the currency, and the recognition of silver, while not taking the shape of free coinage, is a notable advance.

The opponents of free silver in this coun try will be staggered by Mr. Goschen's policy. They cannot fail to see that it points to a change in the financial policy of the world that will bring silver to the front. Under the circumstances it would be bad statesmanship for this country to surrender to the gold-bugs.

It would be almost suicidal folly now to call a halt in our free silver crusade, and the suggestion made in certain quarters that it should be subordinated to the issue of tariff reform is unworthy of a moment's consideration. The economic policy favored by the majority of the democratic party is absolutely certain to win if we make a bold fight ing an adverse report. The result will surprise very few. Mr Stanford's bill was an extreme measure. It proposed to permit land owners to give a lien on their real estate for twenty years to the United States government, for which the mortgager was to receive legal tender currency and be charged 2 per cent interest In the committee's report it is claimed that the larger class of land owners are too intelligent and prudent to cover their homesteads with mortgages, and even young men starting in life, when borrowing capital would not look forward to remaining twenty years in debt. Such a low rate of interes would inspire improvident habits and ex travagant speculation in a class of people now almost free from such temptations.

Stanford's scheme is compared with John Law's notorious Mississippi project, which, in 1717, spread such widespread disaster. throughout Europe. It is also compared to a similar venture in the Argentine Republic where a national mortgage bank was estab-lished in 1886, to make loans on real estate, and which was authorized to issue transferable mortgage bonds, to be sold and guaranteed by the government. The interest was not exceeding 8 per cent; provision was made for a sinking fund, and other precautions were taken. The experiment ended in a collapse a few months ago, and the republic is bankrupt.

Reference is also made in the report to the effort of the United States in 1780 to float paper currency secured by the honor of the republic and its vast landed property. The money depreciated until it took $250,000 to pay for a $10 supper for four persons, and finally became utterly worthless. The obfection is also made that Stanford's plan would make it necessary for the governmen to employ an enormous number of persons to carry it into effect. The government has no surplus of money, and is not likely to have enough to lend out at less than half the rate of interest it is now paying. Upon the whole, the proposed inflation is so objectionable that the senate committee has recommended its indefinite postponement. wild and unsafe. The best way to expand the currency is through the free coinage of silver, and the repeal of the present tax on the currency of state banks, so that there will be no obstacle in the way of local banks

CONCERNING "The Light of the World." The Critic of February 14th says: "It is interesting to know that the idea of 'The Light of the World' was suggested to Sir Edwin Arnold by Henry M Stanley. It was as the correspondent of The York Herald that Mr. Stanley made his second expedition to Africa, in 1874, to rescue Livinge, who, as it proved, had died during the pre vious year. Returning to England in 1878, one of the persons he met first and of whom he saw the most was the editor of The Telegraph. Sir Edwin was then at work upon 'The Light of Asia,' which appeared the next year and scored an immense success. Mr. Stanley read it before it was given to the public, and was profoundly impressed by its beauty. 'Now, if you would take the Christ as the central figure of such a poem,' said he, 'and lavish upon it the same wealth of language, you would command an audience as wide as the civilized world.' The poet expressed considerable doubt as to his power adequately to treat so great a theme. Mr. Stanley continued to urge him to undertake it, yet it was not till years afterwards that the plan of 'The Light of the World' took final shape in Sir Edwin's mind. And a great occasion. Yesterday was the twenty-seventh anniversary of the organization of the first lodge of the order of Knights of Pythias.

The day was fittingly observed by the Atlanta branch of the great order, Adolph Brandt Division, No. 5., Uniform Rank. Pursuant to call, the members of the division congregated at their armory at 7:30 clock last evening, where the first thing taken up after the transaction of routine busi-ness was the election of officers for the ensuing year. They are as follows: suing year. They are as follows:

The inspection completed, the division marched in a body to the Thompson restaurant, where an elegant spread awaited them.

After fully satisfying themselves with the toothsome dainties set out before them, the knights sat back in their chairs to listen to the speeches. The toasts were responded to by Sir Knights Hamilton Douglass, J. M. Hunnicutt, W. A. Haygood and W. H. Harrison. Addresses of the Occasion-Other

Cuba's sun shone with glad beams; and surely the skies in Italy were no more beautifit than this today as we went to this house of God. Most of the passersby were seeking pleasure-exciting scenes. Brass bands could be heard on all sides tempting the dancers to was by any holy tample. It was time for the pleasure-axciting scenes. Brass bains could be heard on all sides tempting the dancers to pass by any holy temple. It was time for the opening of the annual fancy dress ball for the children, and many were the gaily dressed little ones who were in charge of fond parents on their way to this festival-making. This is carnival day, as will be next Sunday—the Cubans celebrating the first two Sundays of Lent in this way—and now and then a masker would dash by to join the fastastic pageant, which would soon enliven the streets in gay procession. What a strange, new scene it was to one from Atlanta, with her church-going people, who respect and reverence God's day. It produced a feeling of wonder and a strange chill of almost fear as we pushed our way through the laughing, jesting crowd into the church where we aw familiar faces among the distinguished ministers seated in the pulpit. Drs. Tichenor, Hawthorne and Burrows from Georgia, Dr. Durham, of North Carolina; Drs. King and Nash, of Florida, and three Cuban ministers—Drs. Cosa, O'Halloran and Bueno, had been invited and were present to assist Rev. Drs. Cosa, O'Halloran and Bueno, had been invited and were present to assist Rev. A. J. Diaz in the dedication service which was to be English. Dr. Tichenor, the corresponding secretary, opened with interesting remarks and requested that the congregation sing the grand old coronation song, which was done with a great deal of feeling, the Cubans, in their own language, raising voice and heart with their American friends. Mrs. Mary Barnes, Miss Adaline Adair, Mrs. E. W. Agnew, of Florida, Mr. G. W. Argabrite, of Virginia, Mr. John H. Weller, of Louisville, Mr. Jordan, Miss Florence Green and Mrs. Gordon were the choir:

to have any set sermon—two addresses were delivered first by Dr. Lansing Burrows, and second by Dr. Hawthorne. Dr. Burrows's address was full of thought and was a masterly, happy effort and produced a profound impression. He presented the fundamental principles of Christianity.

Dr. Hawthorne presented in his own brilliant, inimitable and forceful way the following thoughts, which were perhaps the finest that ever fell from his lips:

1. The Baptists believe that "regeneration is

1. The Baptists believe that "regeneration is necessary to church membership."

2. That "obedience, of which baptism was the first act, must characterize the life of the Christian."

3. "As God alone was the sovereign of the tuman conscience, no political power has the aght to dictate the religious faith or practice." These points were illustrated beautifully. The hearts of both these noble brethren are with Cuba and their grand truths today came from hearts full of hope, thanks and rejoicing. After an earnest prayer by Dr. Nash, of Florida, Dr. Tichenor said he "could not longo the pleasure of introducing to the American brethren present, some of whom had never seen him, the beloved

PASTOR OF THE CHURCH,

Lev. A. J. Diaz." Dr. Tichenor gave a history of Dr. Diaz's exile from Cuba during the revolution, how he was converted in New York and his determination to return to Cuba, and how he did return without friends or help with his Bible in his hand to preach the gospel. His "Bible and a trust in God" was all he had when he reached the wharf at Havana. Suspicion, danger and superstition have been around him fon every hand—only ately has he received a helping hand since, in providential way—the Baptists in the south have come to his assistance. In January, 1886, its first Baptist church was constituted with sven members; now his church has 1,500 members, while there are five or six other churches, with many members of the same hith and order.

Dr. Tichenor introduced Dr. Diaz who said: "My heart is too full to find words to express myself, even in my own language." He made a brief address full of feeling and appreciation for assistance rendered him by our southern thurches and individuals from the north.

One of our party was threatened with fever. Dr. Diaz, who is a spiendid "M.D.," as well as minister, came to see the patient. His manner is gentle and signified. I noticed how the faces of his congregation changed with his every thought, and how heswayed their hearts. His face was full of earnstness, and unshed tears stood in his eyes while his hearers wept. His induence is surely felt ferre, and his work proves his faith. When he noticed some one looking at the negroes, who have a place in his church, he said: "We do just as they do in heaven."

Mr. T. H. Billet, a wealthy Baptist from Richmond, said that the congregation was as large and intelligent as an average Virginia congregation.

lin the afternoon we visited Arriago, the Baptist minister who is in prison for publishing his religious views. He will be tried on the 18th of March. All of this trouble of his and Diaz is like primitive days, and is like Acts of Apostles read. We saw nice-looking editors who were in prison for publishing political views—of course, the press here hasn't the freedom of our American press.

course, the press here hasn't the freedom of our American press.

A visit to fereign countries makes one appreciate the happy independence of our own country. On Friday last the cannon boomed upon the arrival of the commissioners who were just returned from Spain. They had been over there to induce the Spanish government to accept Mr. Blaine's policy of reciprocity. They have failed to accomplish anything. A multitude of people assembled upon the wharf to receive them—for the first time the Spaniards and the Cubans are united in their political views—both parties favor reciprocity.

This week the commissioners will have a formal reception in one of the large halls in the city, and make their reports, giving the reason of their failure to accomplish anything. What consequences will follow cannot be foreseen, but we may look for stirring times in Cuba.

quences will tollow cannot be foreseen, but we may look for stirring times in Cuba.

A Spaniard, who is a resident in Cuba, said to Dr. Tichenor: "I would give half I am worth if Cuba could be annexed to the United States, and then with the other half I would make more money in five years than I ever shall if it remains under the rule of Spain." A Cuban gentleman said to me that 90 per cent of the people here are in favor of annexation.

The chief reason of this almost unanimous desire for annexation to the United States is the enormous taxation which is officially stated to amount to the sum of $25,000,000 except a bright more than half of whom are negroes, is simply intolerable. No country but one of vast natural resources could stand step a drain upon the resources could stand step a drain that Cuba has survived this annual block-letting shows the strength of her vitality. If she exists under such conditions, what would she be if annexed to the United States?

VIEWS OF PROMINENT GENTLE-MEN ABOUT GEORGIA'S EXHIBIT. The Empire State of the South Should by

All Means Be Represented—How Is
This to Be Brought About. The people generally are alive to the necessity of Georgia being represented at the The excellent talk of Governor Northen on this subject, reported in yesterday's Consti-TUTION, was warmly endorsed on all sides, and the opinion was unanimous that steps toward a Georgia exhibit should be taken at once.

Constitution reporters talked with a num ber of well-known gentlemen on the subject. These interviews were obtained at the same time as that with Governor Northen, but lack of space prevented their appearing in yester day's edition.

Congressman-Elect Livingston.

"I am decidedly in favor of a Georgia exhibit at the world's exposition," said Congressman Livingston yesterday. "Prosident Waddell, of the State Agricultural Society, recently appointed a committee consisting of one man the question in the interests of the society. was made chairman, and I am going to call the members together as soon as I can. But then that represents only the agricultural society.

farmers in the agricultural society should come together and take concerted action on this vastly important matter. There is no reason why Georgia should not send a magnificen exhibit to the fair. There is no state in the union that can beat this one on the extent and quality of her mineral wealth, and upon the generally varied nature of her products.

"I think the state constitution should be amended so as to permit of an appropriation. Although the time for doing so is rather limited, that difficulty could be obviated in this way: Let the people go ahead and raise the required amount, and by the time it is expended the constitution wille have amended and an appropriation sufficient to refund their money pass Besides, I think the only use required of an appropriation would be the defraying of the expense of arranging an exhibit and taking care of it after it is in place. I take it that the people of all classes and branches of business and trade would be glad to give of their plenty free for exhibition purposes, and about $10,000 would buy all that could not be obtained by donations. The railroads ought to, and probably will, furnish free, or at least very cheap transportation, and there we are in Chicago at comparatively small expense." "The Texas legislature appropriated $300,-000 for the purpose."

"Yes, and the same plan could be followed with profit by our own state were the amend ment adopted in time. Texas evidently intends to buy a great part of her exhibits. The people are taxed and that money is immediately paid back to them in return for the products. Thus, you see, the money is kept right in the

and we want northern and western capital and labor to come down here and develop them. And how are we going to get both down here, for neither is complete without the other? Simply by sending a grand exhibit to the world's fair-one that will effectually advertise our state and her hidden wealth the world can pick out 100 white and 100 negro farmers, all of whom started in at the close of the war without a dollar, and who are now wealthy.

Why? Because they can accomplish in four months as much as the farmers in Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa and adjacent states can in a whole year, the climatic conditions, of course, making the vast difference. If we can only impress that fact upon the people, won't it rouse their enthusiasm?

"Again, the people of Georgia, as they have amply demonstrated in the past, are chock full of state pride. Just demonstrate to them that outside labor and capital will do more than anything else to develop and make rich their fair state, and they will become enthus-astic to the last degree, and will with alacrity adopt and follow out any methods that hold out a good prost t of getting them here out a good prospect of getting them here.

"There are 137 counties in Georgia. I would have committees of good, active men to go to the people of these counties and appeal to their good sense and patriotism for liberal donations of her products. The people of Greene county could get together a fine collection, showing cotton in its various stages of growth and manufacture, from the boll to the woven shirt. The mountain counties contain the minerals and the woods. Go to each of the 137 counties and ask each for something that the others haven't got, and in that way we would get together a splendid exthat way we would get togther a splendid exhibit at a trifling cost.

"Then the co-operation of the various commissioners of departments must be given. Take the educational department for instance. A thoughtful man contemplating emigration is not to be dazzled by an abundant display of material wealth, but will ask: But what are your educational advantages? Have what are your educational advantages? Have you schools in plenty, and well equipped and supported? Now we have all that, and outsiders don't know it, and must be shown outsiders don't know it, and must be shown evidence that such are the facts. The people of Georgia pay fully as much per capita for the support of their schools as do those of Massachusetts for theirs. Now the state school commissioner should prepare an elaborate and exhaustive collection of statistics covering all the pecassary regists.

orate and exhaustive collection of statistics covering all the necessary points. It would prove a most valuable adjunct to the exhibit. The other commissioners should also compile full statements of the past history and present condition of their departments, to be sent along with the exhibit.

"I will speak for the farmers of Georgia and say that they will be among the first to come to the front in this matter. When they are once assured that the project is one that will redound to the credit and future prosperity of their state they will be among the most liberal contributors."

Colonel R. L. Maddox. "I think," said Colonel R. L. Maddox, "some method should be adopted for getting together a first-class exhibit at the world's

Wylie, "but Georgia ought by all means to be represented at the world's exposition. It must be a first-class ex ribit, too-not a one-sided, shoddy affair 000, but then Texas never does anything by halves. It will never do to be left out entirely An exhibit at the fair will be the grande kind of an advertisement for the state, and will show up her great resources to the thousands of people who are every year coming south to settle, thereby escaping the severities of the northern climate."

Ex-President Oglesby, of the Chamber of commerce, was of the opinion that many dif-

Commerce, was of the opinion that many dif-ficulties would have to be overcome before any large sum could be obtained by subscription from private individuals or corporations.

"The fact," said he, "that no aid can be given by the state would greatly embarrass such an undertaking. The cities would largely have to be relied upon, and many who would give liberally to such a fund, that the indus-trial growth of their own town might be repre-sented, would hesitate before contributing for sented, would hesitate before contributing for the benefit of the state at large. Noting action that other states were taking I had hoped that in some way the question might be met by our general assembly. If this cannot be done, and an exhibit of the state's resources made, Atlanta, the highest type of southern push and energy, should at least show to the world her advancement.

Colonel Gantt and the Alliance. Colonel Larry Gantt said: "There ought to be a distinctively alliance exhibit at the expostition, created by the farmers of Georgia and Kansas, the two greatest alliance states in the country. Georgia, with her wealth of cotton, and Kansas, the center of thelgreat grain-producing region—what a grand exhibit the two together could get up! I am strongly in favor of that idea and I hope it will be followed out."

A Lawyer's View. "Some action certainly ought to be taken," said a well-known lawyer yesterday, "to give Georgia a good representation at the world's exposition. Yes, Texas has appropriated a large amount for the purpose, but her constitution differs essentially from ours. Our constitution is rather peculiar in that respect. Section 5180, paragraph 1, speaks on the subject of taxation—how and for what purposes it shall be exercised. It says the powers over the whole state shall be exercised by the general assembly for the following purposes over the whole state shall be exercised by the general assembly for the following purposes only: 1. For the support of the state government and state institutions. 2. For educational purposes; instructing children in the elementary branches of an English education elementary branches of an English education only. 3. To pay the interest on the public debt. 4. To pay the principal of the public debt. 5. To suppress insurrection, repel invasion and defend the state in time of war. 6. To supply the soldiers engaged in the military service of the confederate states with substantial artificial limbs during life.

"I suppose an amendment could also be added giving the legislature power to appropriate sufficient money to pay the expense of a first-class exhibit, but that would take time. If Georgia wishes to be represented some action must be taken and that quickly, as it is no well in the support of must be taken and that quickly, as it is no small job. A great deal depends on the rail-roads. Atlanta is the hub of Georgia and a big convention of all the business men of the state held here would undoubtedly accomplish the end aimed at All the mine owners, land owners and dealers, manufacturers, merchants and farmers would give of their plenty for exhibition purposes if the rail-roads would only assure chean transportation. roads would only assure cheap transportation. "In the summer of 1884 I was sent to the Annapolis hospital, suffering with chronic diarrhes. While there, I became so reduced in strength that I could not speak and was compelled to write everything I wanted to say. I was then having some 25 or 30 stools per day. The doctors ordered a m tools per day. The doctors ordered a medi-cine that I was satisfied would be of no benefit to me. I did not take it, but per-suaded my nurse to get me some of Dr. Ayer's Pills. About two o'clock in the after-noon I took six of these pills, and by midnight began to feel better. In the morning the doctors came again, and after deciding that my symptoms were more favorable, gave me a different medicine, which I did not use, but took four more of the pills instead. The next day the doctors came to see me, and thought I was doing nicely, (and so did I). I then took one pill a day for a week. At the end of that time, I considered myself cured and that Ayer's Pills had saved my life. I was then weak, but had no return of the disease, and gained in strength as fast as could be expected."—F. THE NEW YORK STOCK MARKET. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

NEW YORK, February 19.—The stock market today presented the same general features as those of the past days of the week, the trading being almost entirely professional in its nature, while, except in a few stocks which were subject to special manipulation, the fluctuations were scarcely perceptible. The opening this morning disclosed as apathetic a condition of affairs as ever existed, but the bears saw an opportunity to cover some of their shorts put out in the last few days, and an atsack was made upon Viliards and New England, under cover of which demonstration there was considerable buying of both Burlington and Rock Island, as well as St. Paul. New England was offered down 1% per cent to 35, but manipulation was so apparent that it recovered rather sharply in the final dealings. North American felt the pressure most severely, but yielded only a fraction. With the exception of industrials, these were the only stocks in which there was any movement of interest, new sugar preferred stock dropping 144 and recovering %c. Silve was firmer, the impression that speculative lots, which have hung over the market, have been removed, tending to stiffen prices. The pressure to sell was abated all along the line in the last hour and a stronger tone was developed, the market closing dull, but firm, at insignificant changes in all the list, except Wheeling Ad Lake Erie preferred, which lost 1 per cent, and New England, which lost 3. Trading reached only 67,000 listed and 8,000 unlisted. England, which lost 4. Trading reactive only 5,500 listed and 9,000 unlisted.

Exchange quiet but steady at 486@488½; commercial bills 485½@487.

Money easy at 2@3, closing offered at 21/2. Sub-treasury balances: Coin, $151,780,000; currency, $8,312,000. Governments dull but steady; 4s 120%; 41/s 103.

NEW YORK, February 19.—London prices were strong this morning and quite an amount of purchases were made for foreign account, but the intense bearish feeling which prevails in regard to the stocks of the corn roads kept the market feverish, and though there were gains in some stocks, these were offset by losses in others. Even the Grangers have been divided into two classes of stocks. The wheat roads, such as the St. Paul and the Northwest, finding many supporters, while the corn roads, such as the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Rock Island and Atchison, were liberally sold, both for long and short account. New England was weak, but the weakness was more due to the raid accredited to the Evans party, and which, it is claimed, has as its object the shaking out of long stocks, inan to any tendency to liquidate. Pacific Mail was one of the features, on reports that the subsidy bill would certainly be passed. The course of this stock will depend upon the passage of the bill. will depend upon the passage of the bill. CAHN & Co.

NEW YORK, February 19.—[Special.]—The steadiess shown in the close of the American markets last wening brought about a decided rally in Liverpool, where the arrival market recovered 5-54 from the NEW YORK, February 19.—(Special.)—The steadimess shown in the close of the American markets last evening brought about a decided raily in Liverpool, where the arrival market recovered 5-64 from the close of yesterday, and an increase in the demand from spinners for cotton, the sales reaching a total of 10,100 bales. A reaction was expected by the trade, the recent decline having been too rapid, especially in Liverpool, but the raily carried that market further than was anticipated. Here the market opened from under a sharp covering demand from those who failed to purchase yesterday, and large buying by a local operator whose purchases are thought to have reached the large lotal of 25,000 bales. This large buying carried the market aptard to the close, which was at the best prices of the short existion, though the temper was not the market and after the official closing at moon. THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Provisions. CHICAGO, February 19—The wheat pit was a scene of strange spectacle during the first half hour of the seasion. Lambs tarned upon their shearer. Game was after Hutchinson, who was throwing away his ong wheat in 50,000 bushel lots to eccelerate his flight. Early dispatches were not of so very discouraging nature as was indicated by the drop in May wheat of 1½ of in the course of 30 minutes' trading. It closed yesterday afternoon at 97½c, and at 10 o'clock today it was being sold at 90½c, gradually recovered to 90½c and sold off again to 30 4c, around which latter point it was being traded in about one hour from the close. Business was extremely active, while the price was breaking, and sellers was so pressing after it had gotten under 97c that between 96½c and 96¼c very little could be disposed of until the lower figure figure was reached, heavy quantities of long holdings being abandoned at lower figures. The recovery was largely due to the bullish excitement in the corn and oats crops. It reacted to 97½c and closed at 97c sellers.

There was an uneasiness in shorts in corn. The opening price for May was 33¾c, with some sales at $5½c, and there was no special shange during the first half hour's tradidg, when the break in wheat failed to weaken the holders of corn. Shorts took fright and then a scrimmage among the latter commenced. Prices advanced as shorts attempted to buy and much excitement attended an advance in May delivery to 55½c and prices at the close was 53½c sellers.

Oats attracted considerable attention, moving upward under influences of free buying, and a firmess in corn and provisions were sustained by a firmness in corn and provisions were sustained by a firmness in corn and provisions were sustained by a firmness in corn and provisions.

..... 4 82 1/4 4 92% Private Wire Telegram to Youngblood & CHICAGO, February 19.—The bulk of news today affecting the speculative market for wheat, like yeasterday, was favorable to the bears. The report of the agricultural bureau of the state of Kansas was favorable to a large crop of wheat, there being plenty of moisture and the danger from the Hessian fly past.

Reports from France continue to confirm the unfavorable outlook of the growing crop there. Cables were nominally unchanged. The local speculative feeling was quite bearish most of the day. Stop loss orders were so numerous below 98c that the decline from 97c to 96% was very rapid. At about 96% there was some good buying by parties who, we think, will increase their holdings should the market decline further. We believe that, should there be a decline of 4 or 5c in May wheat, the demand for domestic and foreign purposes for cash May wheat would not remain below 97c very long.

Our St. Louis friends were heavy sellers yesterday around 98c, and we think good liberal buyers at about 96% today. We think they favor the bear side, but do not hesitate to take handsome profits when they are made so quick.

There was great interest displayed in corn today.

There was great interest displayed in corn today.

Receipts continue so light that the short seller begins to realize the difficulty he may have in filling his contracts for May delivery. The spring season is usually a busy one for farmers, and the condition of the country roads is not favorable for marketing corn, and it is not an unusual thing for the receipts of that season to run very much below the domestic demand, and stocks are so light consumers have nothing to draw from to supply their wants during that season.

Both co supply users wants querie cases.

Both corn and oats are a fancy deal, and we would not be surprised at anything.

Provisions were steady, showing rather more than usual strength, partially, we think, from shorts buying, and partially in sympathy with the advance in corn. There are so many who believe the price of the hog product cannot remain so low while the price of corn is so high, the relative difference bearing usually such a close relation between the two.

A WHITEHALL STREET HAYBURNER Suddenly Becomes Imbued With a Will of Its Own and Refuses to Obey.

of 11s Own and Refuses to Obey.

A derailed hayburner caused a commotion at the corner of Alabama and Whitehall streets yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock.

The antiquated mules attached to the cushion-springed buffet, were the heroes of the moment, Danville, General Passenger Agent Hardwick, General Freight Agent Barnum and Superin-tendent Ryder of the Georgia Pacific, are all springed buffet, were the heroes of the moment, so to speak.

They were the bobtail stars in a thrilling mulodrama in one act.

A disposition on the part of the car to go one way and an unwillingness on the part of the said quadrupeds to follow suit, was the cause of the catastrophe.

But for their docile disposition some one or something might have been have.

omething might have been hurt.

As it was the only damage done was the demolition of the fancy harness used on the hayburner tion of the fancy harness used on the hayburner lines, and the utter paralyzation of the schedule on the West End branch.

The car was coming down Alabama street, and instead of turning off at the corner of Whitehall, the wheels skipped the frog and proceeded on its journey toward the Gate City bank.

But the mules, with the habit of years strong upon them, with their accustomed willfulness, switched off to the right.

The driver was have looking, for the new roces.

The driver was busy looking for the new moon over his left shoulder, and did not see the peril of the situation until it was too late to avoid the consequences.

In less time than it takes an ordinary mule to swipe a fly off his left ear, it was all over. The hayburner was steering with full head toward the entrance to Rosenfeld's store, and the antique quadrupeds were lying quietly upon the belgian blocks as if dreaming of the beauties of mule heaven, while a half dozen passengers sneaked out the rear door.

A crowd quickly gathered, and in a few minutes a brace of keen-bladed pocket knives, in the hands of sympathetic citizens, had relieved the luckless mules of their leathern trappings, whereupon they arose leisurely and ambled off, toward the crib on Line street.

RICHMOND, Va., February 19.—[Special.]—There were three rather elaborate weddings here last evening,

At the First Baptist church Miss Eva, the pretty and accomplished daughter of Dr. H. Wytha Davis, was married to W. C. Lee Moore, secretary of the board of public works and confidential clerk to the auditor of public accounts. Dr. Hatcher officiated. Among those present were Governor McKinney, Auditor Marye, Treasurer Harman, Secretary of the Commonwealth Flournoy and other state und city officers.

A quiet but enjoyable occasion was the wedding of Mr. Isaac Hutzler to Miss Mira Rose. Rev. Dr. Kaiser, of Norfolk, performed the ceremony Numerous visitors were in attendance, some of them coming from as far west as Nebraska. Hundreds of telegrams were received.

REYNOLDS, Ga., February 19.-[Special.]-One of the most beautiful marriages that ever took place in Reynolds occurred last night at the Baptist church. Mr. C. L. Brooks and Miss Georgia Hodges, two of our most popular young society people, were the participants in the happy affair, Rev. W. J. Durham, of Macon, performed the ceremony. The church was beautifully decorated, and promptly at 8 o'clock, to the strains of Mendeissohn's wedding march, the procession advanced down the aisle in the following order: Messrs. T. W. Pool, E. J. Frederick, L. M. Lucas,

E. L. Bryan, H. A. Paris, E. M. Cooper, F. A. Hardeman, C. F. Beall, B. M. Jackson, J. A. Brooks, G. W. Hodges, H. H. Aultman. Mr. Charles F. Mayer, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, has a very decided answer to give on one question at least. Here it is: "There is not the slightest foundation for the statement that an option has been secured on the Baltimore and Ohio. There is no person or persons seeking to get an option on the property. The road is not for sale, and all reports to that effect are false."

It was rumored that the hand of Gould will be seen in the anction of the Decatur, Chesapeake and New Orleans railway, which will be sold by H. M. Doak, cierk of the United States circuit court at Nashville, on the eastern steps of the custom house, April 7th. It is stated there that Jay Gould has made a desperate effort to get control of the Louisville and Nashville system, and, meeting with only equivocal success, he will endeavor to bring the owners to terms by the immediate development of the Decatur, Chesapeake and New Orleans, completing it to Nashville, and taking full advantage of its splendid connections with lines south of there, many of which are already in the hands of the Wall street wizard.

"When was the building begun?"

"Last August. Considering the fine character of the structure and its size remarkable progress has been made."

"What are some of the attractive features?"

"In a nutshell it is one of the finest summer hotels in the south. It is of a picturesque architecture, something similar to the Sweetwater park hotel at Salt Springs, and is most beautifully located.

"The dining hall and ballroom are paracularly commodious and elegant. The ballroom is 50x75 feet, located above the dining hall, which is the same size.

President Inman, of the Richmond Terminal, recently held a consultation with Mr. Frank Thomson, first vice president of the Pennsylvania road, regarding the continuance of the traffic alliance between the two lines. Mr. Inman was of the opinion that Mr. Thomso should be willing to withdraw the arbitraries on traffic between Washington and this city. Mr. Inman was well pleased with the result of the interview, and expressed himself to the effect that the conference was satisfactory. No. 6 East Alabama St. G. W. ADAIR,

To those who are inquiring for property that can be sold again at a profit, I would suggest to call and go with me to examine 13 beautiful lots on Pearl and 11 on Estora street.

These lots are just south of Inman park, are close to the Decatur and Confederate Home dummy line, and are two blocks from the Edge-wood avenue electric car line. They lie fault-lessly, are beautifully shaded, and are lots that are greatly in demand for modest homes or for renting property.

I will sell as a whole, or in part, at a figure which you can make a fine profit. Come today and look.

I have an elegant northside home, on a large corner lot, with paved streets, electric car line, and, in fact every convenience and comfort, which I can sell at what I consider a bargain. It is a first-class A No. 1 gentleman's home.

ABOUT THE CAPITOL.

THE STATE HASN'T APPROPRIATED BNOUGH MONEY FOR PENSIONS.

Either for the Veterans or for the Confederate Widows—The Contested Election Cases—Other Matters

The state hasn't appropriated enough money for pensions. There isn't enough for the old soldiers; nor is there enough for the confederate widows.

As explained in The Constitution several days ago, there are three classes of pensions:

1. The veterans who are already on the ro!!; before making application this year.

2. Veterans that are entitled to pensions, and who apply this year for the first time.

3. The confederate widows.

These classes are kept separate, the first class being paid first. In fact, no blanks except for this class have been sent out yet.

Now, before the 1st of April, after prac tically all the old pensions have been paid, the blanks will be sent out for the old soldiers who have never drawn a pension before. Now, right here will be one deficit.

Captain Tip Harrison, who superintends the pension office, and is thoroughly familiar with its details, explains the situation:

"Last year," said he, "the state of Georgia paid 3,110 pensions, amounting to $182,180.
"This year's appropriation is only $185,000.
There will be practically no decrease in the amount paid to the old pensioners. In other words, these pensioners for whom blanks have already been sent out, will alone nearly consume the appropriation.

"As to the new pensioners, I can form only an estimate; but one thing is certain—that there will be more than enough to take up what remains of the $185,000. In other words, there won't be enough money to pay all the applicants. "From the requests that have come here for blanks for new pensioners, I judge there will be 200 to 300 of them to be paid. They will average $50; or in all, say $12,500. Part of that can be paid out of the $185,000, but there is no way for paying the others.

ANOTHER DEFICIT.
"Then only $60,000 has been appropriated for the widows' pensions. That means that only 600 claims can be paid.

"An examination of the law will show very plainly that there is no way to pay these pensions after that $60,000 is exhausted. There is a general impression that there is another law which gives the governor authority to borrow money, if need be, in excess of that. But this is a mistake—$60,000 is the limit. Only 600 claims can be paid; and there will be more than that number this year entitled to pensions."

Contested Election Cases. The Morgan county contest for treasurer was argued yesterday before the governor, consuming almost the entire day.

The governor reserved his decision.

Another case, contest for the sheriffalty of Jefferson county, was taken up, but was con-tinued until today.

The next case on the docket was from Decatur county, but that will be postponed, probably to the first of next week. A telegram was received yesterday by the governor, requesting that this be done. For the remainder of this week, however, the other cases will keep the governor busy. There were six of them in all.

A Suggestion. An officer, of long experience in the capitol, makes this suggestion:

"It would be better to have these contested election cases tried in the county where the election was held. The proper officer would be the judge of that circuit.

"This turning of the governor's office into a judicial tribunal is awkward and unsatisfactory. The subject matter of these cases puts it naturally in the province of the circuit judge.
"Any lawyer will readily appreciate the convenience of trying a case as near the witnesses as possible—to say nothing of the justice

"As it is now, it is an expense to both parties to come to Atlanta with their cases; it takes up the governor's timewhen the same time could be better spared by people better capacitated to try such cases; and for the sake of exact justice being done the case should be tried at home."

Another Suggestion. Here is another suggestion-this one by Comptroller General Wright. "The pensions to old soldiers and to the confederate widows," he remarked yesterday, "should be paid in each county, by the ordinary of that county.

"That is the only way to prevent fraud.

"That is the only way to prevent fraud. Everybody in that county can easily learn the names of all the pensioners in the county, and fraud would be almost impossible. Then, too, the pensioner could draw his allowance in porson, the ordinary first having approved his claim and made requisition for and received the amount of the pension from the state. Let all these pensions be paid through the ordinaries.

"There would be less chance for the shyster lawyer, and other incidental objections to the present plan, where the money seems so far away from the old soldier, and with so many technicalities in the way.

"I believe that is the best way to pay these pensions—through the 137 ordinaries of the 137 counties. Don't you?"

"Hemmed In by the Hostiles"

Is one of the headlines that appeared in the newspapers at the beginning of the Indian troubles. The jolly night editor that wrote it had no idea what a wide application his alliterative headline would have. There are hundreds and thousands of people who have never seen the Indians, who may be said to be hemmed in by the hostiles. They are the long-suffering victims of disease-of Blood Poison, Skin Cancer, Rheumatism, Scrofula, Mercurial and Potash Poisoning, and all the various ills that attack and rack the human system. These are the hostiles. With the chief of them Swift's Specific-S. S. —deals as effectually as the police of the plains dealt with Sitting Bull. In fact, S. S. S. is more active than any police could be. It agrests, drives out and destroys all blood poisons and diseases of the blood. It promptly makes victims of the ailments just mentioned, and is a remedy for many others, as hundreds of
